IWUF President's Message

Dear Participating Teams:

Ladies and Gentlemen, Dear Friends:

On behalf of the International Wushu Federation (IWUF), I am pleased to extend my warmest welcome to athletes, coaches, officials, and friends from around the world to the 16th World Wushu Championships in Fort Worth. This vibrant city offers warm Texas hospitality and a rich and diverse cultural history that includes the heritage of cattle ranching, rodeo and a thriving arts, food and music scene. I am certain that wushu will add great excitement to a sports-loving Texas audience.

These World Championships are coming back to the United States for the first time in nearly three decades, and in those 3 decades wushu has developed greatly in Pan America. These Championships are also unique and special as we gather together our elite global wushu community after a long hiatus of four years due to the Covid pandemic. So with extra joy we reunite again in person to celebrate our beloved sport, bring our cultures and friendships together once more, and assiduously work to keep pursuing our goals of full Olympic inclusion.

Our wushu community is strong, and these World Championships are our celebration of what we have achieved with much hard work and dedication. We are inspired to continue to build our sport bigger and better on every continent. Our athletes are nurtured by family, friends, teammates and coaches, and local clubs, schools, national/territorial teams, and our 158 national and territorial federations help our athletes pursue their dreams. Our collective dream is truly alive today in Fort Worth, and I am thrilled to celebrate this moment of the 16th World Wushu Championships with all of you.

I would like to offer heartfelt thanks to the city of Fort Worth, the United States of America Wushu Kungfu Federation, and the Fort Worth LOC, whose steady commitment to organizing and hosting these Championships has been energetic and unwavering. IWUF is also deeply appreciative of the many efforts of all volunteers, officials, judges and supporters of this event. And to the athletes who have traveled many miles, trained to the utmost of your ability, and put in great efforts to be here today, you will show the world your talent and spirit, and I urge you to enjoy all of your experience here.

I wish all the athletes of this World Championships the best of luck, and hope everyone will enjoy the warm hospitality and wonderful culture of the vibrant, beautiful city of Fort Worth.
